Women's History Month Event Diversity & Inclusion in Health and Life Sciences: Where are we today?

Research supporting the business case for diversity in the workplace continues to grow. Yet, it is widely accepted that diversity is lacking in the health and life science sectors. Indeed, recent studies highlight that the gender gap in boardrooms and C-suites is among the highest in the health and life sciences as compared to other industries. Join our panel of executive women to explore why these gaps exist and what we and our organizations can do to make a change.
